

Matthew Helton

8742 Meadowcreek Dr. Dayton, OH 45458 | 937-602-7137 | bookatc@yahoo.com | www.atcphoto.org

I am a photographer and my primarily focus is with digital photography. I am also working with film and am expanding to alternative methods for example, pinhole photography, Vandyke and Cyanotypes.

Education:

Wright State University, Bachelor of Fine Arts (I.P)

IAOTS (International Association of Online Training Standards) Diploma of Professional Photography, 2015

Studied Under:

Tracy Longley-Cook | people.wright.edu/tracy.longley-cook

William J Jones | <http://www.willjonesphotography.com/>

Exhibitions:

2017 Wright State University Arts Gala Scholarship Exhibition, Elaine Stein Galleries, (forthcoming)

Service Experience

"Photos for Food", 2017 Led a food Drive for Friendship Food Pantry. Sponsor, Coordinator, Volunteer

Internship:

Photographer, Wright State University, Office of Marketing Fall 2016

Awards:

Wright State University Arts Gala Scholarship. 2017

Short Bio:

I have always been comfortable with my abilities to learn and engage in new intellectual and creative territories. Originally, I attended Wright State University to study in the field of medicine, however I found that my true passion was within the field of art and photography. I was able to learn the technical side of the medium very quickly, however I struggled, early on, to be confident and expand my conceptual thinking. The collection of images being submitted represent my work from this past year where I challenged myself to produce work outside of my comfort zone.